FORTUNE'S MUSICAL HOST.

The only successfully established publication f the kind in the United States.

"I great you as a host— Unfold the pages of my heart And read therein your welcome." BEN JOHNSON.

A Musical Periodical, designed to circulate among the homes of the people, is no new idea, for the want of it has been so long felt, that there are but very few persons musically inclined, to whom the thought has not naturally suggested when the thought has not naturally suggested itself. In Europe, a dozen works of this class exist, which circulate hundreds of thousands of copies. They are looked for with the same expectancy as the weekly papers, or the monthly magazines. Their popularity arises, notso much from the fact that they are chesp, as of course, a recommendation, for in all of them, as in FOR-TUNE'S MUSICAL HOST, the music given for fifty cents, would, in separate pieces at the music stopes, cost over three dollars. A saving, taking into consideration the admirable manner of their production, that no one, in these times can afford to despise.

This monthly publication, now in the commencement of its third year, has met with a success altogother unprecedented in the history of Musical experiments, either in America, or in Europe.

Cheap mysical publications has been distributed to Europe.

Cheap musical publications have hitherto failed, because they were just as cheap in their style of production, as they were in their scale of charges.

Toe Publisher of the MUSICAL HOST is determined to make this work a model of beauty in style, and artistic in every respect, first in the superior execulence of its Music, comprising Orig-Queensware and Hardware, near Liberty pole, Racine, Ohio. Our long experience in the publishing business warrants usin promising that the expectations of our subscribers, in regard to the character, the growth, and the success of the MUSICAL HOST will be thoroughly satisfied. usual sixteen pages of new and carefully selected music, eight or more pages of literary matter of a varied character, and full of interest to miscellancous as well as to musical, readers. In this department we shall comprise stories, poems, ketches, Biographics of eminort persons, musical items and criticism, book notices, and Literary miscellany; and it will be our nim to make the iterary department of the MUSICAL HOST com-

We have already commenced the publication of mouth to month, until completed.

Many valuable subscribers have, in time past, interested themselves in circulating and promoing the success of the Musical Host. We feel ting the success of the Musical Hoat. We feet that such friends ought not to go uncowarded by at least some token of our grateful appreciation of their services. For this reason we have made arrangements, at great cost, to present to every person sending us eighteen dellars, annual subscription, for a club of four subscribers, for 1868, a copy of that great national work of Art, "OUR GREAT AUTHORS."—A LIPERARY FARTAT THE HOME OF WARRINGTON TWING.
